Sometimes trooth and fantasy are easily confused. That is what happened when a radio play, meant to amuise, created a panic. At that time, people were very in toon with stories of aliens from space. So, when a radio crue described a strange extraterrestrial crash, few people would argew that they didn't believe it.

According to the newman, a bunch of people were gathered beside the crash when suddenly an alien emerged. Old and yung alike were stuk to their seats as the story unfolded.

It was hours before people had a clew that the broadcast was a hoax. Frantic citizens called on authorities to reccew them. Finally, people settled down, but they grew skeptical. From then on, many would refuse to trest everything they heard on television or radio.
